Message by the Pro Vice-Chancellor and General Director

RMIT Vietnam: Shaping the nation's future

RMIT's journey in Vietnam began with a simple yet powerful belief: education can uplift communities and create lasting positive change. Since welcoming our first students in 2001, we have grown into a vibrant community of learners, educators and alumni, building a legacy of opportunity and impact.

As part of RMIT University, a global university of technology, design and enterprise and one of Australia's original tertiary institutions, RMIT Vietnam plays a vital role in advancing education, research and industry engagement in one of Asia's most dynamic regions. Established in 2000 as Vietnam's first fully foreign-owned international university, we bring world-class, industry-connected education to a country at a pivotal stage of development.

Vietnam's rapid urbanisation, technological change and demographic shifts are reshaping how society lives, works and grows. In this context, education must do more than prepare graduates for jobs. It must empower them to shape the future.

Guided by our strategy, Knowledge with Action, we turn knowledge into real-world impact, particularly in emerging technologies, sustainable cities, social innovation and regional collaboration. We are committed to inclusive, values-led leadership and meaningful partnerships with industry, government and community.

Looking ahead, RMIT Vietnam will be defined by collaboration, inclusion and impact, working alongside students, staff, alumni and partners to contribute to Vietnam's growth and its increasing global engagement.

RMIT Vietnam: Excellence in action

Excellence in teaching

RMIT Vietnam delivers Australian-accredited programs across business, computer science, engineering, psychology, communication, design, media and fashion, recognised for high-quality teaching, a diverse international faculty, and strong graduate outcomes. With more than 25,500 alumni in leadership roles across Vietnam and the region, our graduates act as influential ambassadors and corporate leaders. Our academics are trusted voices on Vietnam's future through media, research, conferences and deep industry partnerships.

Excellence in research

Research and innovation underpin RMIT's Knowledge with Action strategy. Strong industry and government connections enable high-impact collaboration with partners across Australia and Europe. Our research community is growing rapidly, with record increases in publications, PhD enrolments, external partnerships and funding. In 2025, RMIT committed AU$25 million to expand research and PhD scholarships in Vietnam, strengthening local capability with global recognition.

Excellence in engagement

Collaboration with government and industry is central to RMIT Vietnam's impact. We support capacity building through strategic partnerships, including transnational security and knowledge-sharing initiatives with the Australian Department of Foreign Affairs and Trade. With key industry partners, we deliver future-ready programs grounded in real-world experience. Through chambers, industry bodies and policy forums, RMIT Vietnam acts as a hub for innovation, talent and community development.

Excellence in people

The University has received national and regional recognition, including being named one of the Best Companies to Work for in Asia in 2025. With staff representing 47 nationalities, RMIT Vietnam offers a genuinely international working environment. Inclusion and equity are part of everyday practice, reflected in strong representation of women across the workforce and in senior leadership, and a culture that encourages collaboration, learning and meaningful work.

Our guiding force: Strategy, vision and values

1 RMIT Vietnam's Country Commitment

Launched in 2023, RMIT Vietnam's Country Commitment outlines how the University advances Vietnam's social, economic and education priorities. It reinforces a long-term dedication to world-class, internationally accredited education and impactful research in areas such as emerging technologies, sustainable cities, social innovation and regional collaboration. Through strong partnerships with industry, government and community, RMIT Vietnam strengthens higher education, deepens Vietnam–Australia ties, and invests in future capability. This commitment is reinforced by a new Hanoi campus and the expansion of Saigon South campus, expanding access, capacity and long-term national impact.

Living and working in Vietnam

Vietnam is a dynamic and diverse country in Southeast Asia, with a rich cultural heritage and a rapidly growing economy. Home to a young and internationally connected population, it offers a welcoming environment for professionals relocating for work.

The country's two major cities, Hanoi and Ho Chi Minh City, provide distinct but equally compelling living and working environments.

Hanoi, the national capital in the north, blends history, culture and government, while Ho Chi Minh City in the south is Vietnam's commercial centre, known for its energy, innovation and global outlook. Da Nang, located along the central coast, offers a more relaxed lifestyle with growing economic significance. RMIT Vietnam has campuses in Hanoi, Ho Chi Minh City and an English Language Training Centre in Da Nang, allowing staff to work across some of Vietnam's most vibrant urban environments.

Why Vietnam?

Five reasons to choose Vietnam

A safe and welcoming place to live

Known for its stability and hospitality, Vietnam provides a safe, friendly setting for professionals and their families.

High quality of life with lower living costs

Affordable housing, dining and services support a comfortable lifestyle while allowing greater flexibility and choice.

Rich culture and a gateway to Southeast Asia

Vietnam offers a unique blend of history, culture, cuisine and modern city life, alongside regional connectivity and access to the Asia-Pacific.

A fast-growing and dynamic economy

Vietnam is one of Southeast Asia's fastest-growing economies, offering strong opportunities in an increasingly global and innovative environment, and a pivotal moment to contribute to the nation's next stage of development.

A place to grow your career

As a leading international university in Vietnam, we offer exceptional access to government, industry and community networks. This highly connected environment enables senior leaders to shape education and research priorities, strengthen national capability, and accelerate their career progression within a growing institution.

For many of our leaders, working here is not only a career choice, but also an opportunity to contribute to Vietnam's future.

How to apply

The recruitment process will be managed by RMIT Vietnam in line with our commitment to fair, transparent and merit-based selection.

Applications should include a current curriculum vitae and a brief cover letter outlining your interest in the role and relevant experience. Applications can be submitted via the RMIT Vietnam Application Portal called Workday.
